When the youngsters came out of the paddock Wilkerson, in Yale blue and orange, was quickly singled out by the crowd of 6,000 persons who had been drawn to the track by the bright sun and the cheerful and a half furlongs:

His services were already in demand and is half-brother, Griffin, was more than gratified because of the little fellow's unexpectedly bright prospects.

pectedly bright prospects.

When the flag fell the six horses got away on equal terms for their journey of four and a half furlongs. The track was so dry that a blinding cloud of dust arose as the field reached the upper turn. Suddenly Osman Digna stumbled and turned a complete somersault. Wilkerson clung to him, but had no time to do anything else.

The crowd saw the spill, saw the fallen colt struggle riderless to his feet and saw a man run out to the place where the boy lay unconscious. It was a fearful fall and oldtimers, who have seen many a jockey go down, shook their heads solemnly. The man carried the midget under the rail to a spot aloof from the track, after which all eyes were turned to the thoroughbreds who were running down the stretch. There was a groun as Easy Street, the favorite, after leading a greater part of the distance, was caught and passed by Rightaway, the second choice, who won by a length in a drive. The hubbub and babel of voices as the winning figures were hoisted ceased with a suddenness that showed a feeling of concern for the little sufferer who was lying far up the track unconscious on the turf.

A sombre looking ambulance made its way slowly to the scene of the mishap and Wilkerson, battered and brused, was litted in by haif a dozen tearful stable boys. He was examined by Dr Edward T. Moxie who said that he was suffering from a broken arm, a fractured skuli and probably internal injuries. The ambulance driver was ordered to drive as fact as possible to St. Mary's Blocklyn. But for some reason he drove to the sensy Hospital which was reached late in the afternoon. Meanwhile there was a rumor in circulation at the track that the boy died on the way to St. Catherine's Hospital. The police of Jamaica had a record of his death on the blotter, to the effect that he passed away at St. Mary's Hospital at 8.45 o'clock. House Surgeon McCarthy of St. Mary's when asked about this said that the boy died on the way to that hospital. Coroner Rouff, who was at the track, ordered the police late last night to find out just what had become of Wilkerson. Detective Scully traced the ambulance driver to a stable at Ozone Park and learned that the jockey had been taken unexpectedly to sensy Hospital where the house surgeon said that the boy died on the way to that hospital coroner Rouff, who was at the track, ordered the police late last night to find out just what had become of Wilkerson. Detective Scully traced the ambulance driver to a stable at Ozone Park and learned that the jockey had been taken unexpectedly to sensy Hospital where the house surgeon said that the boy's injuries could not be determined and that it was impossible to say whether he would recover or not.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP SEASON BEGINS TO-DAY. Brooklyns Beaten in a Close and Sharply Played

Game by the Toronto Team -Clean Fielding and Batting by Both Sides - Davis Makes Four Safe Drives -Other Games. The two weeks' preliminary training is over and to-day the race for the National League baseball pennant of 1901 will begin. Owing to the more than unusual uncertainty as to the strength of the eight teams, caused by trades and inroads by the American League for players, there is more interest than is generally the case to see how the teams will shape up. Those of the teams that went South for practice have returned pretty fit for the championship fight, while it remains to be seen whether those that trained in the cold and wet North are as fit as their rivals. The games scheduled for to-day follow:

Brooklyn at Philadelphia. Boston at New York.

Pittsburg at Cincinnati. Chicago at St. Louis. TORONTO, 6; BROOKLYN, 5.

The Brooklyns tackled a nustling minor league team at Washington Park yesterday afternoon and were beaten by a score of the several hundred spectators enjoyed thoroughly the hard, clean hitting and fast fielding. interspersed here and there with an error to make the issue more doubtful The To rontos of the Eastern League were the conquerers of the Champions. They are an active lot of players, and not being in the least overawed by their company, were on their toes from start to finish, making the most of every opportunity. While beaten, there was nothing about the playing of the Brooklyns to cause their supporters to feel downcast. The batting of the Chambions was exceedingly good, that of "Lefty" Davis especially so. In five times at the bat Davis made three singles times at the bat Davis made three singles and a double. Every time he hit safely he met the ball squarely amidships and sent it whistling on a line to its destination. Bruce of the Torontos, an Indian, was next best with the willow. He made three clean hits.

The Torontos were outbatted but grouped their hits better than the Leaguers. Kitson and McJames did the pitching for Hanlon's men and there would have been fewer runs by the Canadians with clean support. Keeler dropped a liner after a short sprint, which let in one run and a poor throw to second by McGuire was expensive, Hanlon shifted Keiley over to first and assigned Sheckard to the guardianship of third base. Sheckard had little to do, handling the single grounder that came his way cleverly.

to the guardianship of third base. Sheckard had little to do, handling the single grounder that came his way cleverly.

The Torontos jumped away in the lead, scoring twice in the first inning on a base on balls. Brown's sacrifice, two singles and an outfield fly. Sheckard scored for Brooklyn in the third on a force and Kelley's double. Two singles, a well placed sacrifice, a stolen base, coupled with McGuire's low throw and Keeler's muff let the visitors score two more in the fourth. Brooklyn responded with one in the same inning; Daly made the count on a two-bagger and a force-out.

It looked as if the Brooklyns had the game won in the seventh. Davis led off with a smashing triple, Kee err acced ration Keeler's muff of has it. Sheckard hit to the right field fence for three bases and Kelley raised a fly to deep centre. This combination of happenings gave three runs, but the Torontos rapped Mclames hard in the eighth. Brown singled and Bonner and Bruce followed with three-baggers along the right foul line. With one Brooklyn man on first in the ninth and one out Sheckard drove a long one to right. Brown took the ball on the run and doubled up Davis at first base by a long, accurate throw: The score:

YOUNG INSTRUCTS UMPIRES.

to Changes in Baseball Rules. WASHINGTON, April 17 .- President Young has issued the following special bulletin for the instruction of the umpires of the National League:

First—Your attention is called to the amendment to rule 3, by which the catcher's lines are moved up to a distance of ten feet from the plate, and to rule 17, which requires the catcher to stand within such lines. Second—The rule regarding an illegal delivery has been abolished.

Third—Rule 30: A fairly delivered ball. The rule requires that the pitcher shall take his proper position before delivering the ball. If he delivers the ball while not in such position, the umpire shall call a "ball" regardless of where it goes, except in case the batsman strikes at the ball.

Fourth—Rule 32: Delaying the game.

A—This rule is intended to prevent thresome and unnecessary delays in the game, and should be strictly applied to the game.

B—The second section to be read first and will apply primarily to the first batsman in each liming, although equally applicable to each succeeding batsman.

C—Section—I should be enforced intelligently.

primarily to the first casaman in each succeeding batsman.

C.—Section 1 should be enforced intelligently. The umpire shall decide whether the throw to the base by the pitcher be a legitimate attempt to retire a base runner. If it be an illegitimate throw, the umpire shall call a ball. If it be a legitimate of the umpire shall call a ball. If it be a legitimate effort to retire a base runner, the twenty seconds, provided in section 2, shall begin to run from that time.

Fifth.—Supplementing section 5, rule 9—If a fielded ball strikes the person or ciothing of the umpire before it reaches the player to whom it is thrown, the base runner shall hold the base he was then legally occupying. If it strikes the umpire after having passed the fielder, the base runner shall be entitled to the next base.

Sixth.—Your attention is called to section 4, rule 50, requiring that the umpire shall notify the President of the League within four hours of any fagrant offence committed by a player. You will, in this case, telegraph a brief report within the required time, and also mail a written report giving the full particulars under oath. This direction also applies to any action occurring under the provisions of rule 80.

Seventh—it is imperative that each umpire shall enforce strictly and absolutely each and every rule and law, and maintain discipline and gentlemanly behavior upon the field. There can be no excuse for failure to do so with the authority and support at your command. Failure in this requirement will demonstrate the incapacity of the umpire to occupy his position.

Eighth—Permit no unnecessary delays to occur in the game. Ninth—Conduct yourselves while on and off duty in a gentlemanly manner Tenth—Always wear a neat blue uniform while on duty. Heventh—Reep in constant communication with the Secretary of the League and report anything which may be of value and ask for further instructions upon any matter in which you may be in doubt.

President Young said to-night that he had received replies from a majority of the League clubs favoring a return to the old rule by which a player gets his base for being hit by pitched ball unless he plainly avoided making any effort of getting out of the way of the ball from the pitcher and thereby allowed the ball to hit him. This rule was abolished at the spring meeting, but so many protests have been unde against it that the question was submitted to the different clubs. In view of the reclies already received the rule will undoubtedly be reinstated.

Pitcher Carrick, formerly with the New Yorks, but now with the Washington-Ameri he did not sign with the New York Club again this season. The following, dated Hampton Va. comes from him:

Va., comes from him:

To the Editor of the Sum—Sir; I have seen statements that I demanded an exorbitant price for my services this season regardless of the kind and generous treatment that I have received from the New York club. These are the facts. Last season they sent me a contract calling for $1,500, a very small raise from my 1809 salary, so I wrote the management asking them to make it $1,800, but did not get even an answer. Rather than not play ball at all I worked for that sum last season, and worked hard, hoping what I asked for would be made up at the end of the season, or at least recognized in this season's contract.

My contract for 1001 called for $2,000, $500 more than last season, but I feel that $500 was due me on last season work. Hence I did not appreciate the advance, especially as I had been offered much more by Washington. Now about my wanting half of Manhattan Island, &c., I asked for $3,000 and no bonus for signing.

Jack Sheridan, the Baseball Umpire, Said to Be Deranged. CHICAGO, April 17 .- Jack Speridan, the American League baseball umpire, was brought to Chicago to-day in charge of friends. He is said to be suffering from friends. He is said to be suffering from mental derangement.

While on his way from San José, Cal., to Chicago, Sheridan got off the train at Marceline, Mo, where he was taken into custody because of his strange actions. It is reported that he donned his baseball suit, went out on the street and began un piring an imaginary baseball game. When President Ban Johnson of the American League heard of his condition he telegraphed that the patient be sent here immediately.

follows, Robbins, stroke, Petty 7; Vanderhoef 6; Rhodes 5; Smith 4; Edmonston 3; Powley 2; Hazelwood, bow, Long, coxswain.
It is by no means certain that the combination will be found rowing in that order permanently. The coaches are giving considerable attention to the second 'aristy and it is possible that the shift is made to strengthen that eight.

O'Laughin was forced to retire from rowing on account of the objec-tions of his parents. While Mount was re-moved from the squad at the orders of the Faculty Committee on Athletics, because of deliciency in his college work, which makes London have decided not to have any regata this year. The time is too short to perfect arrangements and it is the intention to hold the first regatta in 1902. Harvard is in the scheme heart and soul, Yale is favorable and the promoters of the plan believe other big rowing colleges will be represented.
